JUDGE JAILS COMPTROLLER

New York City Official Imprisoned; Contempt of Court.

BY ROBERT T. SMALL.

Copyright 1923

New York, Nov. 22—The stir created in this city by the decision of the United States supreme court that city comptroller Charles L. Craig must serve sixty days in jail for criticising Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer has unfortunately taken on a decidedly political aspect and this famous case will figure in the future campaigns of the state with the added prospect that its influence may be felt throughout the country.

Comptroller Craig is a Democrat. Judge Mayer is a Republican, who prior to his appointment to the bench had been both prominent and exceedingly active in state politics.

ASSAIL SENTENCE.

The Democrats today are assailing the sentencing of Mr Craig to prison for contempt of court as a blow at free speech and freedom of the press. The Republicans are replying that the comptroller had an opportunity to apologize to the court and thus purge himself of the contempt. They also are contending that Judge Mayer did not find the contempt as a result of criticism of the court, but on account of what he believed to be false statements made by the comptroller in the course of his criticism.

Meanwhile the prospect looms of the finances of the greatest city in America being administered from a [illegible] state Federal prison. [illegible] Southern New York always are placed in one of the neighboring Jersey jails. The Essex county prison at Newark is yawning for Mr Craig and he says if his imprisonment will [illegible] measure of reform in [illegible] he will feel his confinement [illegible] been in vain.

ASSISTANT DIES.

[illegible] unusual situation the city [illegible] today has been further complicated [illegible] death of Henry Smith, the deputy comptroller. Mr. Smith was right arm to Mr. Craig and much of the work of the office was expected to develop upon him during the forced absence of the comptroller behind federal prison bars. The deputy comptroller died suddenly with a heart attack. He had worried greatly over the adverse court decision from Washington. He and Mr. Craig had long been close friends and co-workers.

Lieut Gov. Lunn also has given a political twist to the controversy. In addressing the Sphinx club made up largely of newspaper publishers, he denounced the sentencing of Mr Craig, who, he said, had been guilty of no crime. Then the lieutenant governor exclaimed:

"When criticism dies, tyranny is born."

MRS. STOKES' CASE SETTLED OUTSIDE

Accepts $18,000 in Annual Alimony.

New York, Nov. 22—W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel man and his wife Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, formerly of Denver, today ended their legal warfare of several years standing through an agreement by which Mrs. Stokes was granted a degree of separation.

The agreement it is said will give Mrs. Stokes an annual alimony of more than $18,000, the amount she is now receiving. In addition, Mr. Stokes will provide a trust fund of approximately $750,000 for their two children. Both children are to remain in the custody of Mrs. Stokes in Denver. Mr Stokes will have the right to visit them when he likes.

Four women, who were accompanying Mr. Schmalzreid, were permitted to resume their journey.

SAYS EXTRAVAGANCE CAUSE OF PLIGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 22.—The plight of the farmers of the middle west is attributable, at least in part, to extravagance during years of prosperity, W. J. Bailey, governor of the Kansas City Federal Reserve bank, testified here Wednesday in the Interstate Commerce commission hearing on grain and freight rates.

Mr. Bailey declared that he believed farmers had bought too much machinery in more bountiful years.

DRY SLUETHS COMB EAST

Federal Agents Seek to Stamp Out "Gigantic Plot."

Washington, Nov. 22—The eastern section of the country is being combed by federal agents in an effort to stamp out a liquor smuggling and marketing conspiracies described as "one of the most gigantic combinations known."

Working on clues obtained by the Savannah, Ga., grand jury, which yesterday indicted 126 persons for alleged violation of the prohibition laws, the agents, according to William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice have a winter's work before them.

"ONLY A START."

A spokesman for the department declared the Savannah indictments were "only the beginning." It was said the grand jury's inquiry also shed light on other conspirators.

Another result of the investigation, it was declared was the gathering of much infirmation about the methods of liquor smuggling.

DEBS' NAME NOT TO BE ON BALLOT

Socialist Leader Suffering Poor Health.

BY J. P. YODER.

(Copyright 1923)

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 22.—For the first time since 1900, excepting for the year 1916, when he was a candidate for congress, the name of Eugene V. Debs will not be on the presidential ballot when the voters go to the polls in 1924. At least that is the present outlook, owing to the health of the only man who has five times been a candidate for the highest elective office in the United States.

The same keenness of intellect and quickness of thought are still there, but the strenuous life which Mr Debs has lived for the past fifty of his sixty-eight years—"both in and out of jails and penitentiaries," as he puts it—has finally begun to tell on a once magnificent physique.

INSISTS ON CHANGE.

This unique product of America—a man who has been scratchingly denounced and wildly acclaimed by millions; who cherishes the most sentimental of friendships with prominent men who have been his bitterest political antagonists—for the first time in 20 years says he will insist that someone else do the carrying on of the socialists' cause.

Reports from this town of his birth that he is experiencing a seige of illness from which he cannot recover are only partly true. He is broken in health, but he is far from broken in spirit. It is an old heart weakness resulting from his arduous campaigns with their attendant million and a half miles of torvel, and brought to the dangerous stage by his three and a half years of confinement in the Moundsville and Atlanta prisons.

NAMES SIX LEADERS.

"Who will be your successor," he was asked.

Debs at first was loath to name anyone, declaring it would look too much like "kingly succession," but pressed, he finally responded:

"I will give you the names of six men who occur to me off-hand as being capable, worthy and deserving of the honor of being the socialist candidate in 1924. There are others, but here are the six:

HASTY, BASEBALL PITCHER, INDICTED

Major League Player Held As Flogger.

Atlanta, Nov. 22—Six men were indicted by the Cobb county grand jury at Marietta, near here, late Wednesday on charges of rioting and conspiracy in connection with the alleged flogging by a masked band of Mrs. Bertha Holcombe, Smyrna, Ga., and S. H. Norton of Atlanta, at a lonely spot between Smyrna and Atlanta last Friday night.

THREE ARE BROTHERS.

The six men indicted are:

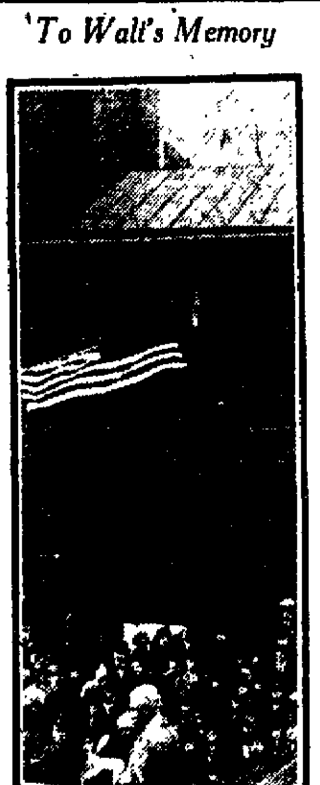

Kellar Hasty, pitcher of the Philadelphia American League teams; his brothers Arthur and Frank Hasty, farmers living near Smyrna; Park Cock, a mechanic, who works in Atlanta, and Tom Black and Joe Bramlett.

All were taken into custody by Sheriff Swanson. They were released on bond of $4,000 each.

FORD PROGRESSIVES FORM PLATFORM

Planks Aid Farms and Strike At Waste.

Omaha, Nov. 22—(AP)—Virtual abandonment of further immediate efforts towards forming a new Progressive element with the various groups already established as a nucleus was seen in the adoption of resolution by representatives of fifteen states who endorsed Henry Ford and offered three planks, besides formally calling a convention at Detroit, Dec. 12.

The three planks of the proposed platform endorsed at today's conference are,

TO RELIEVE DISTRESS.

"We relieve the distress of agriculture and industry by:

"1—The establishment of a debt paying system of government loan banks instead of the privately owned monopoly of money and credit, the federal reserve system.

"2—By making the transportation system a means of public service, and not speculative gain, through government ownership of railroads, same to be paid for at fair valuation in full legal tender currency.

"3—Prevent future chaotic unemployment conditions and future squandering of natural resources by wasteful and fraudulent contracts, and subsidies to monopolists and profiteers through the development of our natural resources, to be paid for in full legal tender issued direct by the government."

SEEK UNION.

Sioux Falls, Nov. 22—(AP)—A move to bring together the Democratic and Farmer-Labor party organizations in South Dakota was inaugurated Wednesday in at least two counties.

While conversations on the possibility of aligning the two parties on a single national ticket have not yet reached the stage of formal negotiations, leaders in both ranks admit that the amalgamation effort may be successful if mutually acceptable planks on agricultural policy and transportation can be written into a unified platform.

McADOO UNDISTURBED.

McAdoo leaders today said they were undisturbed at the claims by Ford leaders, that they had carried the state, and reiterated McAdoo had been an easy victor in the county proposal meetings.

U. S. G. Cherry, a McAdoo leader, in a statement, said incomplete returns show at least 30,000 votes for McAdoo as against a possible 5,000 or 6,000 for Ford.

Oscar Broussard, superintendent.

Dennis Nisdayer, employe.

L. D. Tousen, employe.

Nine bodies had been recovered tonight from the ruins of the plant.

Of the injured the number was about equally divided between white and negro employes.

DR. COOK GETS 14 YEAR TERM

Explorer-Promoter and 13 Others Guilty of Oil Frauds.

Fort Worth, Texas, Nov. 22—Shorn of any glory that may accrue because of his oil promotions and his adventures to the ice-gripped regions of the north, Dr. Frederick A. Cook, paces a cell in the county jail today. His last oil promotion, the Petroleum Producers' association, was his undoing.

Late yesterday Dr. Cook was sentenced to 14 years and nine months in Leavenworth prison and fined $12,000 by Judge J. M. Killitts. The defendant was charged with using the mails to defraud. If he appeals he must arrange bond of $75,000. J. W. Bailey, his counsel, said he could not provide the sum demanded and if he cannot Dr. Cook must stay in jail until his appeal is heard.

COOK DENOUNCED.

In jail with Dr. Cook are thirteen former associates. Among them is S. E. J. Cox, who must serve eight years in prison and pay a fine of $8,000.

In sentenceing Dr. Cook, Judge Killits gave one of the most scathing denunciations ever heard in court here.

"Stand up, Cook," he commended. "What have you to say for yourself?" he asked.

Cook said nothing.

ANANIAS AND SAPPHIRA

"So you can say nothing?" said the court. "You have come to the point where your peculiar personality fails you. The Twentieth century should be proud of you. History gave us Ananias and Sapphira. They are forgotten, but we still have Dr. Cook.

"Cook, this deal of yours is so damnably rotten that it seems to me your attorneys must have been forced to hold their handkerchiefs to their noses to have represented you. It stinks to high Heaven. You should not be allowed to run at large. I know that you have your ill-gotten goods put away, but your wife and daughter should not be allowed to touch them.

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

"You have stolen this money from widows and orphans. You should start another company and distribute it back to them.

"Cook, have you no decency at all?" the court continued.

"Are you not haunted at night by these pitiable figures? How can you sleep? I am not going to do justice in this case, for I think that you will get it somewhere else. You ought to be paraded as a practical warning in every state where you have sold stock," and with this last stinging phrase Judge Killits passed sentence.

STAY IN JAIL.

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov 22—Dr. F. A. Cook, S. E. J. Cox and eleven others convicted and sentenced yesterday to serve penitentiary sentences and pay fines ranging from $1,000 to $12,000 must remain in the county jail for two months even if they succeed in making appeal bonds.

WARNS SERVICE MEN OF FRAUDS

Emerson Tells Men to Guard Bonus Checks.

Springfield, Nov. 22—Warning former service men holding soldiers bonuses to be cautious in accepting securities offered them in trade for their bonus holdings, Secretary of States Louis L. Emmerson has announced that dealers in questionable securities are making an organized effort to get a big share of the $55,000,000 being distributed by Illinois in "adjustment compensation."

"The securities department of my office," Mr. Emerson said, "during the four years in which it has been in operation, has kept out of the state at least $350,000,000 in doubtful or fraudelent securities, either by actual prohibition of sale or because dealers knew it was useless to apply for qualification. Every effort is being made by the department to prevent the sale in Illinois of wildcat stock and other paper in which the element of risk is much greater than the probability of return."

WATSON MAY MAKE NOMINATION RACE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 22.—Senator James A. Watson of Indiana may become a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination for president "if for no other reason than to win the Indiana delegation from Hiram Johnson," he announced here Wednesday night.

CAPTURE THIEF IN EVENING GOWN

Los Angeles, Nov. 22 — A male bandit, alleged companion of a woman who was seized by police after she had leaped from a second story window of a house which was being robbed, is being sought as the slayer of Robert McGee, a special deputy sheriff killed in a pistol fight. The woman, who was armed and clad in an evening gown, gave her name as Julia Johnson, 25.

SHERIFF'S MEN SHOOT FOUR MEMBERS OF VOLUNTEER POSSE

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 22—Four members of a volunteer posse organized to search for supposed bank robbers, were shot and seriously wounded by a posse headed by Sheriff Herman Weber at Cory today. The wounded men are Claude Lloyd, Thomas Collins, Joseph Van Deeren and Paul Willis.

Sheriff Weber, receiving a call that an automobile party near Cory was acting suspiciously, left for the scene with deputies. In the meantime a volunteer force was formed at Cory.

THOUGHT BANDITS.

As the sheriffs party appeared it was met by the citizens posse. Believing them to be bandits, the citizens posse called on them to halt.

Sheriff Weber, thinking he had been ambushed by bandits, opened fire. The posse returned the fire but none of the sheriff's party were injured.

STRESEMANN IS READY TO QUIT

Chancellor Admits Germany's Position Is Hopeless.

London, Nov 22—(AP)—In his address before the Reichstag today Chancellor Stresemann is quoted by dispatches from Berlin as declaring his government would relinquish office if it were considered necessary and that he hoped the Reichstag would make up its mind quickly so that he might know whether he should continue.

He declared Germany's internal position was hopeless.

FAULT OF FRENCH

France had expressed fear of serious German developments arising from recent incidents but he could assure France that any developments that might occur would be due to France herself.

Communist deputies constantly interrupted.

Dr Stresemann said that despite Germany's serious position efforts would be made to continue negotiations with France. The Reichstag however, must not be led away by the idea that concessions to France would do much to help Germany.

AGREEMENT WELCOME.

London, Nov. 22—The agreement by which France and Great Britain again present a common front to Germany is heartily welcomed here and not the least by politicians who are glad to be freed even if the relief should prove to be only temporarily from menacing trouble while the election fight is in progress.

Some quarters credit Premier Poincare with having taken a more complacement attitude because of a desire not to embarrass Premier Baldwin during the campaign.

FRONT PRESERVED.

Paris, Nov. 22—The attitude of Paris newspapers toward the notes which the council of ambassadors sent to Germany may be summed up "half a loaf is better than none."

They agree that the notes were only feeble productions but they also point out that the allies preserved a united front.

NAVY PLANS AIR RESERVE SYSTEM

Would Train 200 Flyers Annually.

Washington, Nov. 22.—Plans for an aviation reserve system which will train between 150 and 200 expert flyers annually were announced today by the navy department. Embodied in the program is the basis of a new policy which it is said, constitutes the first concrete step toward building the air service of the fleet to the strength required by modern tactics.

In each naval district "in which the public is sufficiently interested," there will be organized and maintained a reserve aviation unit capable of turning out a minimum of ten pilots a year.

OUTLINE EQUIPMENT.

Equipment for standard reserve training units will consist of two training planes and "fifty per cent of spare parts" and such additional aircrafts and materials" as the resources of the department can afford."

"Owing to the shortage of funds," the announcement says" the department must look to the civil authorities of the community in which the unit is to be established for cooperation and material assistance."

California Will Give Hiram Johnson Trouble

Senator's Opponents In Home State Expected To Wage Fight; Coolidge May Be Forced Into Combat.

By Mark Sullivan.

Copyright 1923

Washington, D. C. Nov. 22 — The confident expectation is that Hiram Johnson will have the fight in his home state of California which he has solicited directly or by implication in his various statements. The fight will not be made by Coolidge but will be made by Johnson's opponents within the state. Undoubtedly they will want to use Coolidge's name because they must have somebody to put forward as their man against Johnson.

When they begin to use Coolidge's name, that will put it up to Coolidge either to forbid the [illegible] or to be silent. The latter will probably be Coolidge's course for he can hardly put himself in the position of forbidden any one in any state who wants to nominate him from taking such action.

FEEL TO CONTEST

Johnson and Johnson's friends couple their challenging invitation of Coolidge to California with the assertion that they propose to feel free to contest [illegible] Coolidge's home state of Massachusetts. All this is unusual and in a campaign strategy dictated by the situation in Johnson's own state.

It takes no great [illegible] at a guess to know that Johnson's friends would infinitely prefer to get the California delegation without a contest and that they would be pleased if they could get Coolidge's friends [illegible] state [illegible] where they would [illegible] Coolidge's [illegible] in California. But Johnson's friends fear that the fight against him will be made in California [illegible] and [illegible] are about the results.

COUNTER MOVE

[illegible] forestall the [illegible] logical result of making a poor showing in his own state [illegible] Johnson's friends [illegible] minimise the effect of [illegible] demonstration in Coolidge [illegible] state of Massachusetts. In the [illegible] Johnson is favored [illegible] in the primary [illegible] two states. In California [illegible] delegation will be instructed [illegible] statewide [illegible]

SEPARATE INSTRUCTION

If Massachusetts the delegates will be instructed [illegible] That is to say, in California [illegible] friends, or Johnson's [illegible] can only make a showing against Johnson by carrying the whole state and can only get any delegates by getting [illegible]

"This obviously is a difficult [illegible] In Massachusetts [illegible] other hand Johnson's friends [illegible] are two or three [illegible] districts where the conditions are [illegible] favorable can concentrate [illegible] and if they [illegible] the world that they [illegible] the president [illegible] state.

JOHNSON WEAKER

[illegible] Johnson is much weaker [illegible] of California than Coolidge [illegible] state of Massachusetts. [illegible] for saying that [illegible] are acutely anxious about [illegible] to carry California [illegible] and that [illegible] present [illegible] of the present [illegible]

They include many [illegible] progressives who feel that Johnson [illegible] some time ago [illegible] represent their ideas. They include the friends and supporters of Hoover. They include also a majority of the republican voters in the southern end of the state. They include the regular Harding men, and finally for the present occasion they include that considerable portion of the California people who are of New England birth or antecedents and have a feeling of kinship for Coolidge.

MUCH TROUBLE.

If all these elements combine against Johnson they will make a world of trouble for him. The writer is told that if there is a fight against Johnson in California it will be necessary for him to spend [illegible]

CRIMINAL ACTION THREATENS WALTON

Governor to Surrender and Give Bond.

Oklahoma City, Nov 22—(AP)—The probability that criminal action will be instituted against J. C. Walton in connection with his official acts as governor of Oklahoma loomed today.

A grand jury which considered evidence upon which he was removed from office by a senate court of impeachment has drawn indictments it is understood and will report today.

TO SURRENDER

Walton has made known his intention immediately to surrender and make bond. Under the apprehension that the grand jury would act yesterday he spent several hours at the court house and left only after being informed that the grand jury's report would not be presented until today.

The expected indictments, it is declared in well informed quarters, will charge Walton with diverting public funds to his own use by placing his private chauffeur on the pay roll of a state department and preventing assembly of a grand jury.

Washington, Nov. 22—A statement urging acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for the Muscle Shoals, Alabama, power and fertilizer project was issued Wednesday by Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, who also quoted from a recent letter by Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the war industries board on the Ford offer. Senator Ladd said he had sought Mr. Baruch's opinion since the sale of the Georgia power plant had changed the basis of Mr. Ford's offer.

"Mr. Baruch believes in the development of Muscle Shoals as a great industrial plant for the manufacture of nitrogren compounds for use in fertiliser," said Senator Ladd.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"No," he answered, "I did not do the thing for which I suffered. But to prove my innocence is another matter."

"You have not given up the endeavor, I hope."

"No. I have a man at work in England and I myself make small endeavors. Only the other day I caught—I—" Apparently he remembered something, for he broke off sharply. "But why discuss the affair? It is only one of the world's small injustices which shows that the law, usually right, may go wrong occasionally."

"I suppose that the other night when you were waiting for Mr. Ain-... was on this particular matter ... to see him?"

He made no reply, but sat looking at the fire and the girl watching ... drew her own conclusion ... a conclusion that was far from favorable to Gerald A... wondered what were ... Stane had wished to ... secretary ... and ... was at such pains to avoid. Was it ... believed ... had it in ... to prove his innocence of ... for which he had suffered? ... [illegible]

HE WAS A HALF-BREED OF EVIL COUNTENANCE.

I am sure of that." his eyes fixed on the unconscious Stane. Moving very cautiously he reached the place where the canoe was beached, and looked down into it. A gleam of satisfaction came into his dark eyes as he saw a small sack of beans reposing in the stern, then again a covetous look came into them as their gaze shifted to the stores about the camp. But these were very near the sleeping man, and as the latter stirred in his sleep, the half-breed relinquished any thought of acquiring them. Stealthily he conveyed the canoe down to the water's edge, launched it, and then with a grin on his evil face as he gave a last look at the man in the blanket, he paddled away.

A full three-quarters of an hour later Stane awoke, and kicking aside the blankets, replenished the fire, and then went a little way up-stream to bathe. At the end of half an hour he returned. His first glance was towards the tent, the fly of which was still closed, then he looked round the camp and a puzzled look came on his face. There was something a little unfamiliar, something not present which—

"Great Scott! The canoe!"

At a run he covered the space between him and the camp, and as he looked round and saw that most of the stores reposed where he had placed them the previous night, relief surged in his heart.

"Thank heaven!"

"Mr. Stane, what is the matter? You look as if something had startled you."

He swung round instantly. Helen Yardely was standing at the tent door with a smile on her face.

"The matter is serious enough," he explained quickly. "Some one has stolen the canoe in the night."

"Then we are stranded?" asked the girl quickly.

"In a way—yes!" he agreed. "But we are not in a desperate case. We have food, I have my rifle, and it will be possible to make a raft and float down the river until we meet your uncle's people."

"And if the current took control, Mr. Stane? Please believe me when I say I am not afraid—but I cannot help thinking of those falls you mentioned."

Stane looked doubtful.

"There are risks, of course," he said. "The alternative to the river is to tramp through the wood."

"Then I vote for the alternative," replied Helen with a little laugh. "I've had my full of drifting like a fly caught in an eddy."

She said no more, but taking the kettle, walked down to the river, humming to herself a gay little chanson.

He watched her go, with a soft light gleaming in his hard blue eyes, then he turned and began to busy himself with preparations for breakfast. When the meal was finished, he went through the stores and his personal possessions.

"We can't take them all," he explained. "I know my limit, and sixty pounds is as much as I can carry along if I am to travel steadily, without too many rests. We shall have to cache a goodish bit."

"You are forgetting me, aren't you?" asked the girl, quietly. "I'm fairly strong, you know."

"But—"

"I think I must insist," she interrupted with a smile. "You are doing all this for me; and quite apart from that, I shall be glad to know what the trail is like under real conditions."

Stane argued further, but in vain, and in the end the girl had her way, and took the trail with a pack of perhaps five and twenty pounds, partly made up of the clothes she had changed into after her rescue.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

-and now I use CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

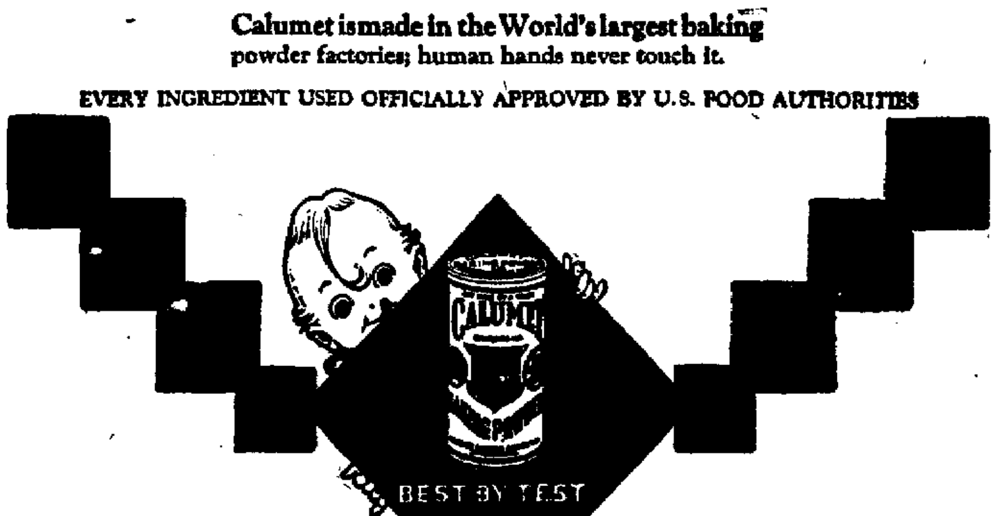

"My bakings used to be a matter of 'hit or miss' — sometimes they were successful; then again a total failure, no matter how hard I tried. But that was before a friend persuaded me to try Calumet. Now I know what the result will be—what to expect every time — perfectly raised, uniformly baked foods. Bake day is really a delight."

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans, instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Baking Powder plays an important part in the success or failure of your baking. The great American housewives all realize this. They have found by experience that a better leavener is not, and cannot be made—that for nutritious and wholesome foods it has no equal.

Calumet is made in the World's largest baking powder factories; human hands never touch it.

HERE GIRLS MEAN BUSINESS.

It was a year or two ago that [illegible] students at Northwestern determined to [illegible] do something for [illegible] for men students in the [illegible] teams of the school.

For a long while the school had been making a poor showing in athletics and the young ladies thought it time to be doing something. They talked the subject over at length, reached a decision and then followed [illegible] startling announcement.

Unless the boys made a better showing in athletics the girls would refuse to let them call, that is they shouldn't call more than one evening a week.

This drastic [illegible] didn't bring any apparent improvement in the athletic line and then some of the girls refused to let the young fellows call at all. And still athletics were in the dumps at Northwestern.

[illegible] are a determined lot of girls in that school. The prospect ahead [illegible] they are making [illegible] they are not disposed [illegible].

[illegible] Northwestern [illegible] are [illegible] show [illegible] that are not doing [illegible] to flourish, ing and [illegible] after they graduate [illegible] world be against the [illegible] make use of the [illegible] dexterity right there in the college. Athletics may look up.

[illegible]

[illegible] announcement from Oklahoma [illegible] the legislature proposes [illegible] ahead with its work and show the world [illegible] not seriously [illegible].

The next thing on the program is legislation [illegible] expected to help in restraining [illegible] activities of the Klan. Members say they are going at this in earnest for they want to publish to the world that in this matter they have been maligned by the [illegible] Governor Walton.

This is something that will be watched with considerable interest by observers in all parts of the country. If the [illegible] do what they are [illegible] in dication [illegible] not at all in sympathy [illegible] charges as reported.

[illegible] in this matter if their sympathies are with [illegible] of the Klan if they are lead set against that style of misgovernment it is well to have them say it to the world and say it in statutory terms that can't be misunderstood.

Generally speaking Oklahoma now is in rather bad repute in this matter of Klan [illegible], not to say encouragement. It is to be hoped the legislature will proclaim itself unmistakably [illegible] situation domino something like this; nothing else will quite fill the bill.

[illegible] FOOTSTEPS OF THE ELDERS.

There is a story going the rounds of the newspapers that student government has failed at Vassar college. The young ladies adopted a lot of promising rules and regulations for their own government, and now they do not live up to all of them.

There is one rule that is lived up to. It pronounces against cheating in examinations. It is the only one in all the list that is observed generally. Other rules that have to do with smoking and dressing go unobserved by a great many.

It is to be hoped the young ladies will not lose heart because of all this. They need only to look around to discover that their elders in the world at large are continually having this experience.

We write a great many laws—it is said we have two million in the country—and perhaps there isn't anybody who observes all of them. If they were followed to the letter it would take all the time of an active and intelligent victim, and there would not be anybody to make a living for him while indulging himself in the lost motion.

The Vassar girls are a little lax in observance of rules that regulate and point conduct. They will never get over this, for it is a stage of perfection their ancestors never reached. The young ladies haven't inherited such a measure of grace, and it is doubted any of us want them to attain such perfection of foolishness. They would not be human, and surely we don't want them to lose this quality.

GETTING THE IMPOSSIBLE NOW.

J. C. Royle has been talking with manufacturers of automobiles, and these gentry have been doing some stringing.

They are going to manufacture more cars in 1924, and there is a question as to how all these are to be sold. This reminds the makers to say something about the quality of salesmanship down the line, the dealers we have in all these towns.

There is a good deal of criticism of many of these dealers. There is too much of what is called "dealer turnover," that is many do not stand up to the rigors of the selling game. There is talk from the manufacturers of lack of capacity, lack of aggressiveness, and lack of executive ability on the part of the dealers.

Looking at the proposition as a whole, that line of talk is bunk and plain rot. These dealers at least have sold the cars, more of them than anybody dreamed could be sold. Dependence is placed in them to sell even a larger number next year. They will not be able to do all that is asked of them, that is not in all cases.

But this is because of a tendency among car manufacturers to ask the impossible. The dealers come near doing even this, but they can't make it in every case.

But they do it often enough to publish themselves the best line of salesmen the world ever saw.

TRY TO HAVE A HEART.

Some of the writers of what they call classical music are reported as getting ready to go into court to complain and ask damages of certain low brows who jazz their best efforts. [illegible] is another case in court that [illegible] be watched with interest.

The classical writers complain that this jazzing takes from the halo of dignity that otherwise would surround them in sunshine and storm.

But there is a broad whisper there may be money in this complaint, and we don't read that the dignified ones will refuse any of this.

Have a thought for the millions of people in the world who don't appear to care for the classical in music when it comes unadulterated, but who stay up nights to step out to it when offered in jazz form. It may be that in this way these millions may be led on to appreciation of the pure classical; anyhow, the experiment is worth trying.

RUN HIS BANK THIS WAY?

Mr. Gould, a Kewanee banker, is open to engagements. He is explaining the "Gould plan" for handling the wheat situation.

He would have the United States buy fifty million bushels of wheat, pay for it in taxpayers' money, sell it to Germany, taking an I. O. U. from that country, after which should come the celebration.

What price is the United States expected to pay for this wheat? If it is the open market price, why not let present holders of the wheat go into that market? But Mr. Gould may want the United States to pay a fancy price.

If it is in order, we would like to ask if his bank holds any wheat paper?

It is all right to make the Christmas plum pudding now, but keep it from the young artist who sticks in his thumb and pulls out a plum.

Next year's auto license plates in Illinois will be yellow figures on black, which will make us about the niftiest things on the road.

Talk about equal rights for woman—one at Assumption has shucked eighty-four bushels of corn in a day, which is good as a start.

Sister Mary of the kitchen is strong for garnishes, and we would like to inquire if we are always expected to eat them.

Mr. Kayser will try a drag on North Water street, and if it fails we must find something else to help pass the time.

But we don't care to determine the finish of a hoss race by anything as tricky as modern professional photography.

Decatur high school reserves cleaned Tuscola to the tune of 26 to 0, all of which looks promising for next year.

It puzzles us to understand how Frank Sheets builds so many roads while making so many fine political speeches.

The jury found "Doc" Cook guilty, but maybe it heard about him before it went into the trial of the case.

We trust it has come to the notice of the cook in the kitchen that Thanksgiving is only a week away.

A Little More Drifting and Then

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

(Copyright 1923, Edgar A. Guest.)

WHEN A MAN'S A MAN.

When a man's a man he doesn't lie,
And he will not play the cheat
And he doesn't look with a scornful eye
At the beggar on the street,
And he doesn't brag of the things he's done,
Or talk of his lands or gold,
When a man's a man you will find my son,
That he's gentle with the old.

When a man's a man you find his friend
Not all of the chosen few,
He never talks of the help he lends
Or the good deeds he may do,
He never tests with a woman's name,
Never sneers at the men who fall,
And a dog a pat from his hand may claim
If only he wags his tail.

When a man's a man he will never shirk
The task that his hand may find,
He is never too big for the long day's work,
Too busy to be kind;
He never sneers at the faith you hold,
Never needless hurt he gives—
When a man's a man it is plainly told
By the gentle way he lives.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma got a letter from Aunt Fanny today telling her all about my little cuzzin Herbit and ma started to tell pop about it after suppir, saying, My sister Fanny dont know wat to think about that baby of hers.

Im not serprized, that sister of yours never did know wat to think about enything, or maybe Im doing her an injustice, maybe its jest that she dont know how to think, pop sed.

Now Willyum dont try to be sourcastic or some day you may succeed, ma sed. Fanny says little Herbit is starting to tawk before he knows how to wawk and she's naturally worried about it, ma sed.

I never herd of eny law forbidding it, pop sed, and ma sed, No, certeny not, eny its usual for children to wawk ferst, and Fanny always was a grate one for everything in its place and a place for everything, and she's afraid if Herbit keeps on that way through life being so unconventional he may develop into a radical or a Bolshevicky or something.

Yee gods and little fishes, pop sed, and ma sed, And then besides Fanny is afraid his judgement izzent very good because he's always calling every animal a doggie, even cats and horses, wile insecks, sutch as flies, he calls birdies. For instants wen a fly lites on his little nose he always says, Go away, birdie.

Well I think that shows grate repression, and I hope nobody knows wat I say wen a fly lites oh my little nose, espeshilly about 5 o'clock in the morning, pop sed. And now if enybody wunts to know ware I am Im behind the spoarting page, he sed.

Wich the next minnit he was.

WOULD GIVE AUTOS TO PROHI AGENTS

New Legislation to Hit At Rum-Runners.

(Special to The Review.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—The high powered motor cars which bootleggers throughout the country have used to distribute their product will be turned against them if a bill to be introduced by dry leaders in the next Congress is passed. The measure will propose that confiscated automobiles be turned over to enforcement officers for use in pursuing rum runners and other Volstead violators, instead of being sold at auction as now provided.

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes and state prohibition directors have testified here that lack of motor equipment has seriously handicapped their work, yet at the present time legal restriction prevents the use of autos taken from liquor runners for use in running down others.

COMPLETE PROGRAM.

Wayne B. Wheeler, national counsel and legislative chairman of the Anti-Saloon League of America has a complete program of legislation ready to place before congress immediately upon its meeting, intended to make "bone dry" enforcement in all states a reality.

His bills to be introduced by dry congressmen will call for an increase in the annual appropriation for enforcement of prohibition from 9,000,000 to $25,000,000.

Other provisions will be for the use of the army and navy by the president in enforcing federal dry laws; for more drastic punishment of violators; for deportation of all aliens caught violating prohibition laws; and for application of civil service regulations to appointment of prohibition agents, eliminating political influence.

Ten Years Ago Today in Decatur

NOVEMBER 22, 1913.

Some of the prices quoted for Thanksgiving dinners were: cranberries 10 cents quart; squash 10 cents; pumpkins 10 to 20 cents; apples, 60 to 70 cents a peck; oranges 25 to 40 cents dozen; lettuce 10 cents head; turkey 26 cents a pound; ducks 20 cents; celery 5 cents a bunch; sweet potatoes, 80 cents a peck.

Five thousand Red Cross seals arrived for Christmas sale.

Only four automobile agency ads appeared in the Sunday newspaper issues. They advertised the Empire, Reo, Overland and Franklin cars.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

D. C. Corley was elected grand recorder of the Illinois Odd Fellows.

There were 600 pupils enrolled at Millikin.

During the week 8000 cars were received in the Wabash yards and as many sent out.

Mrs. C. J. McConnell was appointed chairman of the finance committee at a board meeting of the state federation of Woman's clubs in Chicago.

More than 1,000 people attended the funeral of Harry Seeforth at the Baptist church.

EAST AGAINST WEST IN FLOOR FIGHT

Graham Pitted Against Nicholas Longworth.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 22.—Efforts to align the west against the east with Congressmen William J. Graham and Nicholas Longworth respectively representing those sections are now going forward here in preparation for the fight to elect a floor leader at the Republican house caucus on Dec. 1.

Congressman Graham's reentry into the floor leadership race balked by his Illinois colleagues, after it had been generally understood that he would not be a candidate, was the most important outcome of a meeting of western congressmen held here early in the week. Practically every state west of the Mississippi and a number further east were represented. The sentiment at this gathering is said to have been unanimously for Graham to make the race for house leadership against Longworth, the Ohio entry.

DOESN'T KNOW STRENGTH.

Graham now occupies the unique position of being in the race without knowing exactly what support he can count on. Few of the members who urged him to run can promise him the solid support of their state delegations, as the majority of the westerners have not yet reached Washington.

He is certain of at least one hundred votes, however, and thirteen more than this number will be enough to elect him over Longworth. East and west promise to run "neck and neck" in their attempt to name the Republican party leader and the victor will probably have not more than ten votes to spare.

SOME DEMANDS.

The congressmen from western states who insisted that Graham run for floor leader are determined to wage a fight in the Republican caucus for house control rather than compromise with the "eastern wing" of their party, which is also regarded as administration wing. [illegible] that the ideas of the opposing factions as to the legislative program the next house should follow are so different that an agreement [illegible] is impossible.

Three of the [illegible] demands will be as follows:

1. That committee organization be sufficiently "liberalized" that all sections of the country will be equally represented on the important committees, with the west wielding as much power as the east.

2. That the Federal Reserve Banking Act be amended so that its scope will be sufficiently broad to benefit state and country banks which at present refuse to join the Federal reserve system.

3. That a special Veterans' committee be appointed to consider the soldiers' bonus, needs of [illegible] and future legislation [illegible] the care and assistance of disabled veterans.

America's Favorite Songs

MOTHER MACHREE

Like many a now famous ballad, "Mother Machree" owes its great popularity largely to John McCormack. It has won such a place in the repertory of the celebrated Irish tenor that many persons believe it to be an old, old Irish song.

It was not until about six years after its first appearance that "Mother Machree" became famous. It originally had been written for Chauncey Olcott to be used in a play. The writer of the text was Rida Johnson Young, the author of the play. Mr. Olcott helped write the music and his collaborator was Ernest R. Ball, composer of a number of popular ballads.

At the time it was written the song had the usual vogue of a featured number in a musical production. It was not until McCormack began to use it in his concerts and record it for the phonograph that the song became such a general favorite.

"Mother Machree" played its part in the late war as a song expressing one of the great inspirations of the men in service. It has [illegible] time been one of the favorite songs used at community [illegible].

HERE GIRLS MEAN BUSINESS

It was a year or two ago that girl students at Northwestern determined to do something for [illegible] on the [illegible]. For a long while the school had been making a poor showing in athletics and the young ladies thought it time to be doing something. They talked it over [illegible] reached a decision and [illegible]. [illegible]

[illegible] are [illegible] the legislature [illegible] show the [illegible] no serious [illegible]

The next [illegible] the program [illegible] expected to help [illegible] the Klan [illegible] to publish to the world [illegible] matter they have been [illegible] assigned by the [illegible] governor [illegible]

This is something that will be watched with considerable interest by observers in all parts of the country. If the [illegible] ported.

[illegible] this matter if their sympathies are with victims of the Klan, if they are lead set against that style of misgovernment, it is well to have them say it to the world and say it in statutory terms that can't be misunderstood.

Generally speaking Oklahoma now is in rather bad repute in this matter of Klan tolerance not to say encouragement. It is to be hoped the legislature will proclaim itself unmistakably the situation demands something like this; nothing else will quite fill the bill.

FOOTSTEPS OF THE ELDERS

There is a story going the rounds of the newspapers that student government has failed at Vassar college. The young ladies adopted a lot of promising rules and regulations for their own government and now they do not live up to all of these.

There is one rule that is lived up to. It pronounces against cheating in examinations. It is the only one in all the list that is observed generally. Other rules that have to do with smoking and dressing go unobserved by a great many.

It is to be hoped the young ladies will not lose heart because of all this. They need only to look around to discover that their elders in the world at large are continually having this experience.

We write a great many laws—it is said we have two million in the country—and perhaps there isn't anybody who observes all of them. If they were followed to the letter it would take all the time of an active and intelligent victim, and there would not be anybody to make a living for him while indulging himself in the lost motion.

The Vassar girls are a little lax in observance of rules that regulate and point conduct. They will never get over this, for it is a stage of perfection their ancestors never reached. The young ladies haven't inherited such a measure of grace, and it is doubted any of us want them to attain such perfection of foolishness. They would not be human and surely we don't want them to lose this quality.

GETTING THE IMPOSSIBLE NOW

J. C. Royle has been talking with manufacturers of automobiles, and these gentry have been doing some figuring.

They are going to manufacture more cars in 1924 and there is a question as to how all these are to be sold. This reminds the makers to say something about the quality of salesmanship down the line the dealers we have in all these towns. There is a good deal of criticism of many of these dealers. There is much of what is called "dealer turnover" that is many do not stand up to the rigors of the selling game. There is talk from the manufacturers of lack of capacity, lack of aggressiveness and lack of executive ability on the part of the dealers.

Looking at the proposition as a whole [illegible] of talk is bunk and plain rot. The dealers at least have sold the cars, more of them than anybody dreamed could be sold. Dependence is placed in them to sell even a larger number next year. They will probably do it [illegible] asked of them [illegible] is not in all cases.

[illegible] manufacturers to ask the impossible. The dealers come near [illegible] even [illegible] they can't make it every [illegible].

But they do [illegible] often enough to [illegible] themselves the best line of [illegible] the world ever saw.

[illegible] HAVE A HEART

Some of the writers [illegible] music are reported as [illegible] ready to go into court [illegible] damages of certain [illegible] who jazz their best efforts [illegible] another case in court [illegible] watched with interest. [illegible] writers complain [illegible] jazzing [illegible] from the [illegible] light that otherwise would surround them [illegible] sunshine and storm.

But there is a broad whisper there may be money in this complaint and we don't read this dignified one [illegible] refuse any of this.

Have a thought for the millions of people in the world who don't appear to care for the classical in music when it comes unadulterated but who still might be able to step out to it when offered in jazz form. It may be that in this way these millions may be led on to appreciation of the pure classical, anyhow the experiment is worth trying.

[illegible] HIS BANK THIS WAY

Mr. Gould, a Kewanee banker, is open to engagements. He is explaining the Gould plan for handling the wheat situation.

He would have the United States buy fifty million bushels of wheat [illegible] for [illegible] taxpayers' money, sell [illegible] to Germany, taking an I. O. U. from that country, after which should come the celebration.

What price is the United States expected to pay for this wheat? If it is the open market price, why not let present holders of the wheat go into that market? But Mr. Gould [illegible] want the United States to pay a fancy price.

If it is in order we would like to ask if his bank holds any wheat paper?

It is all right to make the Christmas plum pudding now, but keep it from the young artist who sticks in his thumb and pulls out a plum.

Next year's auto license plates in Illinois will be yellow figures on black which will make us about the niftiest things on the road.

Talk about equal rights for woman, one at Assumption has shucked eighty-four bushels of corn in a day, which is good as a start.

Sister Mary of the kitchen is strong for garnishes, and we would like to inquire if we are always expected to eat them.

Mr. Kayser will try a drag on North Water street and if it fails we must find something else to help pass the time.

But we don't care to determine the finish of a hoss race by anything as tricky as modern professional photography.

Decatur high school reserves cleaned Tuscola to the tune of 26 to [illegible] [illegible] promising for [illegible].

The girls [illegible] but [illegible] before it went into the trial of the case.

We [illegible] of the [illegible] the kitchen that Thanksgiving is only a week away.

PRISONERS TELL OF OPERATIONS

Oyler and Sample Admit Two Robberies.

Taylorville, Nov 22—The confession of Orville Sample and Gordon H. Oyler made to local authorities and federal officials and signed by them in the presence of witnesses, tells in some detail the circumstances of the robbery of the [illegible] Fleming jewelry store at Roby and the post office and store of Ira Wastler at Sharpsburg a couple of weeks ago

According to this statement, Sample is the man who drove the automobile used by the trio in each instance and Sam Haynes, alias Thomas Saunders, is the man who entered the Wastler store and forced Wastler at the point of a gun to open his safe. Saunders was identified by Wastler from among eight other prisoners of the county jail.

Saunders and Oyler also were identified by Mr. Flemming as the men who entered his jewelry store on the pretext of getting a wrist watch fixed and then robbed him of jewelry and cash. The jewelry found on the men was identified by Fleming as having been taken from his store. Confronted with this and [illegible] Sample made their written confession. Saunders is still standing pat.

Mr Carter's action in declining the office was purely of a voluntary nature the tremendous volume of work accruing to the many important projects commanding his attention making it impossible for him to act in the capacity of president for the ensuing year

Yale to Have Hands Full, Camp's Opinion

BY WALTER CAMP.

(Copyright, 1923.)

New York, Nov. 22—Be not deceived by the wild "ups and downs" of football critics. When Yale meets Harvard at Cambridge next Saturday, she is going to have her hands full despite their relative showings against Princeton.

Harvard without question had the most powerful line of the year at the opening of the season and that line will be very nearly intact when it faces Yale, with two weeks in which to have learned the lesson of the Princeton game.

HARVARD'S LINE

[illegible] is as good a guard as has [illegible]. Dunker and Crew [illegible] first class. Metilone and Cheek are [illegible] capable performers and so is Hammond on his good days. [illegible] is a hard runner.

When Harvard ended her Princeton game she was going very strong. The Princeton contest last Saturday can be practically ignored, as the psychology of that game was "never [illegible], but wait for Yale."

FINISHED TEAM

Of course, Yale is a much more finished team in her attack—that is, in [illegible] thus far displayed. But Harvard must have been doing something in the last two weeks, and if she [illegible] on tackle, supplemented with a seasonable forward pass, Yale will [illegible] trouble beating her.

The other big eastern spectacle of the week—the Army-Navy game in New York—loses something of the great reunion feature that characterized it when it was played the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Then it meant that all the old football coaches, players and officials had the day off to see the game. But there will be plenty of people in attendance in the shape of ordinary spectators, and the game, if it is anything like that last year, should be one of the most exciting of the season.

NOTRE DAME STUFF.

The story goes that the Army has got some Notre Dame "stuff" and if they can execute it as Knute Rockne's pupils do, it should give them a lead. Army is powerful, but somewhat more ponderous than navy. The Navy, however, is trickier, has some slippery men back of the line, and will not hesitate to be venturesome in an effort to offset the power drive of Army.

Wood should have the better of the kicking if he is in good shape, while it should be remembered that Smythe, the Army's quarterback, was the elusive player who brought the ball up to scoring position by a long run in the last minute of play last year, and helped wrest victory from apparent defeat. The Navy undoubtedly will watch him with great care and anxiety.

DIXIE BOY IS YALE STAR

RICHESON.

Louisiana has contributed one of the brightest spots to the Yale football arrangement this year in the person of young Mr. Richeson, a quarterback of rare talent. Richeson is one of the finds of the year and has performed with marked skill whenever called upon by Coach Jones.

BIG TEN RIVALS PLAY HARD, YET ESCAPE PENALTY

When Michigan and Ohio State football teams played through their entire battle at Ann Arbor recently, without a penalty being inflicted, a most unusual feat was performed. For seldom it is that a game on the gridiron is played wherein some infringements aren't committed.

But in the Wolverine-Buckeye scrap, there were no offsides, no holding, tripping, clipping or any violations of the rules whatsoever. The fact that it was a Western Conference fray with two arch rivals combating speaks well for the fair, clean play displayed by both elevens.

In the first half there was no time taken out for injuries. Obviously, there were no substitutions. This, coupled with the fact that no penalties were inflicted, the first two quarters were run off in pretty near to scheduled time. There was real action almost every minute.

This no-penalty game may not be a new record in football. But it at least ties a record.

GOTHAM CLUBS TO BE ALTERED

New York and Brooklyn Nationals Will See Changes.

BY JOHN B. FOSTER.

(Copyright, 1923.)

New York, Nov. 22.—National league clubs of the metropolitan district—the New York and Brooklyn teams—are ready to be ripped wide open for the coming season. It has already been told exclusively in these dispatches that waivers have been asked on about half of the present Giants' roster. Now Brooklyn joins the parade by announcing that any player of that team, except Grimes, Johnston and Vance, is on the market.

The Boston Nationals are ready to let anything go except pitchers, which seems to be the best commodity that Boston has. St. Louis has been fishing for trades for six weeks, but is trying to catch what they want with minnow bait, and Philadelphia sadly in need of pitching, does not know which way to turn to get it.

PHILLY TRADE.

One Philadelphia player has just surprised his friends by stating that he probably would go to the Giants with Henline and another player, probably Walker, in a trade. Of course he may have been making the wish father to the thought, but it appears that he is expecting a change.

The Cubs, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, will come nearer to being stand-patters than any other teams of the National circuit. The Cubs can be strengthened, but they do not intend to be weakened. Cincinnati is aging, but hopes to hang on for one year more. The Pittsburghs will shift, but their shifts already are in formation. They have taken on youngsters and are willing to trade some of their older hands.

RABBIT TO BROOKLYN?

Brooklyn has suggested that it might get in the race for Maranville, the Pittsburgh shortstop. If it did, Jimmy Johnston could be played at second, where he is as good as any going, but that would still leave Brooklyn fishing for a third baseman.

Brother, the Brooklyn pitcher, has been aching to get into a Giant uniform for three years. Last year instead of reporting to his team at once he hung around San Antonio, where the Giants were training, until the Giant management would have been justified in chasing him off with a club.

When Brooklyn mentioned the players it would trade, Fournier was overlooked. He has a contract for another year. But players who have contracts can be traded provided they are not cut in pay.

Several Boosting For New State Conference

Galesburg and Peoria Scribes Claim Present Group Too Large—Have Good Points.

BY HOWARD V. MILLARD.

The annual cry "Let's have a new conference" which generally appears a few weeks before the annual I. I. A. C. meeting is out on scheduled time for 1923.

Sport scribes in Galesburg and Peoria have started to boost for the dissolving of the present I. I. A. C. or rather to have eight of the so called stronger schools form a new group.

Over in Galesburg, The Evening Mail's suggestion is for Knox, Lombard, Bradley, Millikin, Illinois Wesleyan, Monmouth, Augustana and Northwestern to form the select few.

HAVE GOOD POINTS.

There isn't any question but what the sponsors of this movement have some good points in mind, one of which is that the I. I. A. C. which now includes 24 schools is entirely too large. There are too many institutions included in the ranks which as far as furnishing good competition is concerned can be put on the joke list.

The geographical location of many of the members of the conference keeps them from meeting with their sister schools. In other words there is a distinct north and south group which never meet.

WHO WILL DECIDE.

The big question in the formation of a new group is just who will decide what schools to leave out in the cold. Take the eight schools suggested by The Galesburg Mail. Why should St. Viator, Eureka, Carthage and Illinois College be omitted. Surely these four have just as much right to be included in the selective group as many named.

What lines is the new conference to be established on? One where scholastic requirements are on a par. One which would include the natural rivals, or to include the schools which in the past have had fairly good teams in all branches of sport.

TAKE CASE OF KNOX

Assuming that the eight schools did form a new body as suggested by the Galesburg paper. Would Knox give up her grid games with Coe, Beloit and Carleton which with the established games with Lombard, Monmouth and Lake Forest accounts for six of the annual contests.

Would all of the eight schools named agree to adopt the freshman rule. It is hardly expected that they would which would of course be an important point in the formation of a conference. Schools favorable to it would have to meet with institutions that feel it has no place in the smaller schools.

WRONG ON LINCOLN.

The Galesburg writer cites the case of Lincoln College enjoying a top berth with Lombard for the I. I. A. C. title. This is simply a matter of missing one of Lincoln's games for the Logan county team was defeated by McKendree early in the campaign.

His point however is well taken that a school may have played five or six weak sisters to gain a perfect record in the present I. I. A. C. while Lombard bested Bradley, Wesleyan and Knox three strong elevens any one of which could defeat the team tied with Lombard if such be the case.

A great majority will agree with the Galesburg and Peoria scribes that the I. I. A. C. is too big if it was formed for the sole purpose of deciding clear cut champions, or to being the six or eight strongest schools in the state together in one group. Even this would fall for every institution has its period of good and bad years.

However, it does appear that there is a lot of dead timber in the present organization.

The band of 125 pieces will swell the crowd of Badger rooters. Passing continues to be an important part of the practice, with the promise that for the first time this year the Badgers will have an effective aerial attack Saturday.

AT NOTRE DAME.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 22—Notre Dame football men continued their steady preparations for Carnegie Wednesday. The usual noonday lecture was followed by a workout on Cartier field. Coach Rockne paid a tribute to Carnegie Tech at the lecture. "Don't think this team won't fight. It plays clean football, but that only makes a good team fight harder. It is a brainy team and you will have to keep thinking all afternoon," he told his men. On the field the coach divided his men into two squads. The regulars worked in dummy scrimmage against Tech plays as exemplified by a freshman team. In the lineup were Collins and Maxl at ends, Bach and Oberta at tackles, Kizer and Glen Brown at guards, Walsh at center, Stuhldreher at quarter, Crowley and Miller at half backs and Layden at full.

Among last year's scrubs who are now eligible are, Heinie Miller, "Skinnay" Jackson, Willie Woodson, Harry Poscover and Rollyn Thomas.

SPORT BRIEFS.

Lynn, Mass.—A game of football was played by the light of searchlights projectors here last night.

YALE-DARTMOUTH BATTLE IN 1924

Need Only Tigers to Complete Big Four.

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 22—Dartmouth and Yale will meet in football in the 1924 season, the Dartmouth athletic council announced Wednesday. The last time the two colleges clashed on the gridiron was in 1900.

Conclusion of negotiations for resumption of football relations between Dartmouth and Yale was viewed Wednesday night in athletics as proof of recent forecasts that plans are well under way for the organization of a "big four" in collegiate athletic ranks to replace the present "big three" with the Green as the addition to the Harvard-Princeton-Yale triangle.

PRINCETON IN 1925.

So far as football is concerned, the only link needed to complete the new chain is for Princeton and Dartmouth to assume relations, as the Green already is on Harvard's schedule. This cannot take place, however, in all likelihood until 1925, for recently it was revealed that efforts to arrange a football date between the Tigers and Dartmouth for 1924 failed when no agreement could be reached on the date.

EASTERN RIVALS

AT YALE.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22—To try their defense against Harvard's new formations, the Yale first and second elevens were Wednesday sent through a fifteen minute scrimmage. Both teams were lined up against the bull pups and the plays were reeled off in a clash to test their workings without strenuous tackling and without running when the backs had forced their way through the line. The plays were halted as soon as the ball had reached its intended destination without regard to ground gained. There were no injuries and the coaches were relieved that Luman and Bingham the slightly injured ends, finished in good shape.

AT HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 22—It was the same old order of things in the stadium for Harvard Wednesday afternoon. First a drill on plays for the first and second varsities and then a combination of the defensive tactics which are being worked out in the hope that the Crimson will be able to stop Yale Saturday. The air at Cambridge now is one of real optimism and the feeling that the Fisher team is going to win spreads among the coaches as well as among the players themselves. Harvard men everywhere today have been gobbling up all the Yale money offered at 2 to 1.

AT WEST POINT.

West Point, N. Y. Nov. 22—The Army football squad worked for two hours Wednesday evening in preparation for the Navy game. A big rally in the stands followed a visit of three airplanes to the Plains gridiron. Flying low, a trio of army flyers from Mitchel field each dropped a bomb, which proved to be a bundle of messages purporting to be from the United States army at large, imploring Army's football warriors to fight from the first sound of the whistle on Saturday. "Beat the Navy," was the slogan contained in the messages picked up all over the gridiron.

AT ANNAPOLIS.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 22—For the last time before the game against the Military academy, the Naval academy squad practiced on the local field Wednesday afternoon. There will be no opportunity for the briefest drills tomorrow, and the finishing touches will be put on at a signal formation on the field of the Polo grounds Friday afternoon. The work was thorough and occupied a considerable portion of the afternoon, but there was no scrimmage and any further casualty to a member of the team is not likely.

ASSUMPTION-PANA BATTLE FOR TITLE

Assumption, Ill., Nov. 22—The football game to be placed at Pana Thanksgiving day between Assumption high school and Pana high school will rightly decide the championship of Christian county. Both teams have played and defeated a county team, while neither has met defeat by one; while no other team in the county has defeated a county team.

Both Assumption and Pana have winning teams; the former having won nine games out of nine, while the latter has won four and tied three out of eight. Both teams are looking forward to this game with anticipation and as the time draws near both realizes what a hard fought battle it will be.

The two teams will face each other on about equal terms as they are about evenly matched. Pana is considerably heavier than Assumption, but the speed and remarkable teamwork of the latter will offset their handicap in weight, and if the field is dry and "weather conditions will permit fast play; the ball will travel at top speed.

WESLEYAN OFF FOR MONMOUTH CONTEST

Cartwright Expects Stiff Battle From United Presbyterians.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 22—A light signal drill and a session in catching punts and passes Wednesday completed Wesleyan's preparations for the game with Monmouth tomorrow.

The practice has been stiff all week, and Cartwright did not want to risk any more injuries, so cut the session Wednesday short, dismissing the men before 4 o'clock.

The squad, chaperoned by Coach Cartwright and Manager Puffer gets away at three o'clock this afternoon for Galesburg where they will spend the night, and will remain until a few hours before game time.

Eighteen men will make the trip as follows: Capt. Zinser, Belrose, Burchak, H. Anderson, Love, Hanley, Fitz, Gottschalk, Wallace, Neidermeyer, Down, Oliver, Rose, Arends, Mark Ford, Svoboda, Wisler, E. Anderson, Call and Clapp.

The stiffest kind of an argument is anticipated, the United Presbyterian college being represented by one of its best teams in recent years this fall.

SIKI TO SEE MUCH ACTION

Rickard Sees Sengalese Fighter As Popular Attraction.

BY FAIR PLAY.

(Copyright, 1923.)

New York, Nov. 22.—Tex Rickard said today that he regarded Battling Siki as one of the real drawing cards now before the public and that he will be matched against high class white cruiser weights in the near future, including Greb, Tunney, McTigue, or any good man who does not draw the color line.

Any attempt to interfere with Siki's style of fighting would be a mistake—the fans like his style. But he should train hard.

MULLINS IS RICH.

Did anyone know that Paddy Mullins, Harry Wills' manager, is pretty nearly, if not quite, a millionaire and that aside from their business relations the two men are close friends who will never break? Well, such seems to be the fact.

Mullins and Wills are old friends and Harry has a meal ticket whether or not he ever fights again. Billy Nolan found this out when he came east to see how about taking over Harry. Nolan, who conducted affairs for Battling Nelson and other good boys, found that there was not a chance, that Harry is perfectly satisfied with Mullins and that Mullins is not at all fed up with his hobby of serving as impressario for the brown panther.

Kid Norfolk's defeat of Siki rather complicates the promoting end of the negro situation. The idea was to put Siki against Wills, but that's flat just now. As to Norfolk, every one knows that Harry can beat the Kid. The Kid knows it. Harry knows it and Rickard knows it. Nuf said.

STRIBLING MAY ENTER COLLEGE

Yale or Pennsylvania May Be Forced to Act on Pugilist.

BY LAWRENCE PERRY.

Copyright 1923.

New York, Nov. 22—There is every chance that either Yale or Pennsylvania will be called upon next September to decide whether or not a professional pugilist, possibly a champion in the light heavy class, is eligible to enter as a regular student.

The applicant will be William Lawrence Stribling of Macon, Ga., who sprang into fame recently when he gave Mike McTigue, light heavy champion of the world a dandy lacing down in Columbus, Ga. Stribling, who will be 19 years old next month, is now in the senior class at the Lanier High school in Macon and is looking forward to a university career. He is a quiet, clean cut young fellow, respected by everyone in his home town and mentally and morally qualified to be a student at Yale or anywhere else.

NO GENERAL OBJECTION.

How Yale or Pennsylvania will feel about it is an interesting point. Probably, since both of these seats of learning are conducted upon broad lines there would be no general objection to the admission of a pugilist who really had an ambition to learn. But on the other hand it is morally certain that he would not be permitted to apply himself to his profession of fighting while he was a student.

So the problem might work out along lines of Stribling's greatest desire. Does he wish to be a fighter or a scholar. It will be interesting to see how the problem is handled by the university authorities.

TICKLISH QUESTION

Before the California-Washington game began a ticklish question arose as to which at the present time there may be various opinions. Tesreau is the star full back of the Washington team. A great deal of the Huskies' backfield defense depended upon him and a lot of the attack, too. Saturday morning his father died of heart trouble. Word of the death came to the newspapers and news agencies of San Francisco and Oakland. Also there came to the player a telegram from his mother. This telegram was withheld from him by his team mates and the newspapers, at the solicitation of Coach Bagshaw of the Washington university eleven, suppressed the dispatch.

Warrant for this action was based upon the fact that there was no train north until eight o'clock Saturday evening and that Tesreau would suffer many unnecessary hours of grief. So he went into the game and played the best football of his career, backing up his own line all over the field and in the last quarter carrying the ball to the Bears' four yard line where the ball was lost on a forward pass. After the game in which Washington was defeated 9 to 0, Tesreau was apprised of his loss.

YALE'S SPORTSMANSHIP.

One reason why every unbiased sportsman will pull for a decisive Yale victory over Harvard on Saturday relates to Yale's sportsmanship and consideration in wearing numbers in the Yale-Princeton game, while Harvard scouts and players sat in the stands looking on. In the Princeton-Harvard game the Tigers alone wore numbers. It is understood that the Crimson will be numbered at Cambridge on Saturday, this being the last game and there being no need of further fears that the designating numbers will work harm to the Harvard system.

One of the lessons of the present season is that the forward pass is not likely to run wild, thereby over balancing the offensive side of the game. The danger of interception is still sufficiently great to retain in the aerial heave the element of great risk.

Gus Wagner's Franklin quintet which attracted so much attention last year in the basketball world has been in demand this season and a number of high class games have been booked. Following is the schedule:

- Dec. 22—Butler, tentative.
- Jan. 2—Franklin at Wisconsin.

- March 7—Notre Dame at Franklin.

The boys who yearly select the All-Conference grid teams are going to have a merry time when it comes to naming backs. No doubt the battle between Martineau and Kipke Saturday will furnish some interesting figures.

Jimmy Ashmore is going to Crawfordsville Saturday by way of Indianapolis. That is, he is stopping over in town Friday night to attend the annual meeting of the DePauw athletic council, which will be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

The DePauw athletic council is a group of approximately 100 men who are active alumni of the Tiger stronghold. They are real for sure backers of all that is good and true in athletics. Victory is not the only thing they look to—but they are pleased that Ashmore can point to four victories, one tie and only one defeat for the present season. This in spite of a deplorable lack of reserve strength anywhere on his team and especially in the back field.

DePauw probably will lose to Wabash. But the Tigers have shown something this year. And it must not be forgotten that their freshmen revealed some knowledge of football when it played in Indianapolis. DePauw will be better next year. The discipline at DePauw has gradually reached a high plane. Kirk and Erickson, Ashmore's assistants, are doing mighty fine work. With less points scored against it than any other team in the state, DePauw can very well hold up its head and forget one defeat. The big idea is that DePauw, guided by Ashmore, is winning its share of games and the time is coming when it will do even better than that.

Decatur high students evidently decided that "Beat Springfield produced the necessary punch for about 500 of the Red and White students are wearing the buttons, designed from the Millikin slogan "Beat Wesleyan."

Posters announcing the Springfield-D. H. S. game on Turkey Day show the time of starting as 2:30 o'clock. This appears to be rather late for a contest which is to be played on Nov. 29 if the two teams desire to play the regulation 15 minute quarters. The sun is scheduled to set at 4:34 Nov. 29 and practically every regulation game requires two hours to complete.

NOW JUST WHAT DID MURPHY'S MESSAGE MEAN

Charley Murphy, former owner of the Chicago Cubs, once was a newspaperman in Cincinnati.

So when Cincinnatians were getting up a dinner in honor of Miller Huggins, first Cincinnati man ever to manage a world championship team, Murphy was invited. Murphy didn't accept the invitation. Instead, he sent the following telegram to Garry Hermann, toastmaster:

"Miller Huggins should be shot at sunrise or quartered and boiled in oil instead of being the guest of honor of a bunch of loyal National League fans after his dirty work against the Giants in the world series. It is disgraceful. Sorry I can't be with you."

CHICAGO DIGS UP 20 YEAR RECORD

Chicago, Nov. 22.—In twenty years of football, out of 172 games played with Western Conference schools, Chicago won 110 games, lost 50 and tied 12, according to a table made public Thursday by the athletic department at the university. The record for 1892 to 1922, inclusive, excepting only 1918, during the war, when the conference schedule was suspended, follows:

	Won		Won	Tied
Chicago	23	Northwestern	6	3
Chicago	25	Purdue	3	1
Chicago	17	Illinois	7	2
Chicago	13	Wisconsin	11	2
Chicago	6	Michigan	10	0

TECH RESERVES SHOWING CLASS

Draw Ire of Varsity—Look to Millikin Game.

Peoria, Nov. 22.—The showing of the Bradley second string football candidates against Lake Forest last Saturday has caused a lot of excitement on the hilltop. A remark by one of the "seconds" that the reserves could beat the regular varsity eleven has aroused the ire of the first string outfit and they demand that the cocky yannigans be sent at them in scrimmage this week. Coach Robertson indicated that he would gratify their whim, probably Thursday afternoon.

EXPECT STRONG FOE.

Bradley football talk has subsided somewhat this week with the team waiting until Thanksgiving Day for its next combat. It is the general consensus of opinion on the bluff, however, that Millikin will prove about as tough as Monmouth and Wesleyan when Turkey Day arrives. The opinions are based on the belief that Coach Williams will have several regulars in the lineup here against Bradley who were not able to work in the last two contests played by Millikin.

CLOUD SKY WITH PASSES.

Coach Robertson gave orders to try out the Bradley forward passing attack Wednesday night and the sky was clouded with shooting footballs. Friedrich, DeCremer and Correll were used alternately on the throwing end of the shoots.

Bradley has not resorted to the air a whole lot this season, favoring the slashing style of attack in most of the games. It is possible that the Techs will "open up" Turkey Day as they have been promising to do for weeks. The aerials were working better Wednesday night than at any time during practice this fall.

YALE LAUDS FOE FOR FINE SPIRIT

Takes Good Loser to Show True Sportsmanship.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 22—Princeton was eulogized as a sportsmanlike opponent recently by The Yale Daily News, which said editorially:

"A Princeton man was heard to remark during Saturday's football game: 'If that's the way the Bulldog is losing his grip, I wish he'd get it back again.' For the Blue, the afternoon meant sunshine breaking through the clouds, food after famine, joy after sorrow. But in the memories of the joyous throng who filled the west side of the Bowl, one thing will stand out fully as prominently as the twenty-seven points. That thing is the undaunted manner in which Princeton's supporters stuck by a defeated but valiant team.

PRINCETON CHEERS.

"To be a good winner when fortune smiles is one thing. To be a good loser is infinitely harder. Penalties, bad breaks, Yale successes, brought never a sign of a whimper or complaint from the Tiger. Every movement made by the warriors from Jungletown even in the discouraging final moments brought forth cheers where one might expect the silence of bitter futility. After the game, as the snake dancers poured out of the Bowl between lines of Princetonians, cheers of congratulation were showered upon them.

GOOD LESSON.

"Several names were added to Yale's hall of fame and a cup of joy filled to overflowing by a team which gives promise of being one of the greatest in the university's half century of gridiron history. But when hard times again roll 'round, as roll they must, if the Blue will accept defeat with as much clean-cut sportsmanship as did the Orange and Black on Saturday, traditions will be none the less glorious for having lost a game."

ILLIOPOLIS LOSES TO AUBURN ELEVEN

Illiopolis, Nov. 22.—Nichols' toe and shifty backfield work of the Auburn High school eleven gave that team a 19 to 0 victory over the Illiopolis squad Wednesday. Running from a punt formation in the second quarter, the visitors carried the ball sixty yards to the local two-yard line, where a series of line plunges accounted for a touchdown.

In the third period a long forward pass accounted for another touchdown and Nichols' drop kick made the total 13. Then, stepping back to the 45-yard line, he booted a drop kick. He sent another between the goal posts in the final quarter.

Charge Assault.

Francis Poole, 247 North East avenue; Gale Scott, 473 South Monroe, and Loren Rowney, 695 East Decatur street, were arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff Underwood and Deputies Ted Hill and Herman Cooper, on warrants sworn out by Anna Marie Tadday and Helen Doty, charging them with attempted criminal assault.

Braid-Bound Edge Makes Smart Finish to Dress

For the tailored dress a braid-bound edge is a suitable and smart finish. Buy the silk braid about one inch wide. Crease it, making the under side a trifle wider than the top, so that when it is sewed on the dress all stitching is sure to catch through and hold both edges.

Press the crease, being careful not to stretch the edge. Baste the braid over the raw edge, allowing the edge of the dress to slip to the fold of the braid. If the edge of the dress has a seam allowance, cut it off wherever the braid is used.

Braid may be sewed on by hand with a very fine running stitch along the edge, sewing from the right side, or it may be machine-stitched on the edge.

Press with care, that the edges are not stretched.

Sister Mary's KITCHEN

By Sister Mary.

TINY COOKIES.

There are times when nearly every woman wants "just something" to serve to a large group of women in the afternoon. The hostess without a maid may find even a cup of tea too much of an undertaking for a large number of guests and will prefer something that can be prepared and placed on plates ready to serve before the meeting begins.

Home-made candy is always appreciated but this involves hours of tedious as well as hard work, so why not serve one of the following delectable sweetmeats? These are about two bites more than candy but are quite rich and sweet enough to serve as a confection without tea.

This rule for "Hard Tack" will serve about thirty persons.

HARD TACK

Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, 1 cup dates, 1 cup walnut meats, ¼ teaspoon soda, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Beat eggs until light with a dover beater. Beat in sugar. Sift soda with flour and salt. Beat into first mixture. Add dates stoned and cut in small pieces, and nuts chopped or cut in small pieces. Mix well and spread very thinly on the bottom of a well oiled and floured dripping pan or cookie sheet. Bake twelve minutes in a hot oven. Remove from oven, cut in long narrow bars and let cool on the molding board.

COCOANUT MACAROONS

Two eggs (whites), ¾ cup shredded cocoanut, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry. Beat in sugar. Put in top of double boiler over hot water. When lukewarm add cocoanut, cornstarch and vanilla. Mix well and drop from a small spoon onto sheets of oiled paper. Bake in a slow oven until tops are lightly browned.

HICKAROONS

One cup hickory nut meats, 1 cup light brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Pecans or English walnuts can be used instead of hickory nuts.

Chop nuts. Beat egg until very light with sugar. Add flour, salt nuts and vanilla. Mix well. Roll and cut with a tiny cutter or form into small balls and flatten with the fingers. Bake in a slow oven.

These confections have crackers for foundation. They require even less work than the two little nut affairs.

Fresh crisp oyster crackers are split in halves and filled with jelly candied fruit, a plump stoned raisin or half a teaspoonful of rich vanilla butter cream. Put halves together and dip in melted confectioner's chocolate. The small sized oyster crackers make the daintiest affairs. Perfectly fresh marshmallows can be cut in quarters and used for fillings.

Saratoga flakes are spread with an egg mixture and browned in the oven to make a "Marguerite."

MARGUERITES.

One egg (white), 3 tablespoons sugar, ½ cup choppd nut meats, ½ cup chopped and seeded raisins, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat white of egg until stiff and dry. Beat in sugar. Stir in nuts and raisins and spread on crackers. Bake in a hot oven until brown.

Another cracker goodie is made with marshmallows. Small square or round wafers are chosen for these. Cut marshmallows in halves. Put half a nut meat in the center of each wafer, cover with half a marshmallow and put in a hot oven or under the broiler to brown and puff the mallow. These are prepared all but the browning early in the day.

Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Perrysburg, O.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Ada Frick, Route 7, Perrysburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Christmas Gifts PERFUME BOTTLES

There's no limit to the price you can pay these days for fancy perfume bottles. But, of course, if you are ingenious, you can copy the elaborate effects at trifling cost.

Here is a pair of quite ordinary-shaped bottles, with bands of wallpaper pasted around them and then the entire surface of the bottle lacquered with a heavy lacquer.

Other bottles are painted with floral or conventional designs, and some are covered with lace and small French flowers. But they all serve the same purpose and all make charming Christmas gifts.

Household Suggestions

For First Aid.

Keep a styptic pencil on the kitchen shelf—it will stop many a small cut from bleeding.

Take No Risks.

Don't risk standing on tables and chairs to dust your walls. Have long-handled mops—they are much easier to operate and much less hazardous.

Unused Broom.

Always keep your broom standing upside down in the closet. The bristles will last much longer.

Fish Odors.

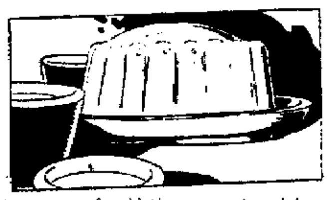

Always keep salt fish, whether they are dry or in brine, well away from all other foods.

Melted Ice Cream.

Melted ice cream, left over from last night's party, may be made up in the blanc mange or custard for next day's lunch.

Stored Onions.

Onions should be kept in a dry storeroom, for if they are stored in a damp place they will give out shoot too early.

Thousands Have High Blood Pressure And Don't Know It

Symptoms are Dizzy Spells, Shortness of Breath and Sleeplessness

A very successful remedy for high blood pressure is known to pharmacists as NORMA and during the past year the demand for it has increased tremendously.

A Buffalo physician devoted his entire time to a close study of this ailment, its common condition and the result is a prescription now sold under the name of NORMA that is for high blood pressure only.

When high blood pressure is lowered to normal, conceded by competent authorities that ailments caused by it, such as nervousness, pains in the head, sleeplessness, hot flashes and dizziness will cease to occur. If NORMA does not bring down high blood pressure and relieve that abnormal condition, your money will be refunded. Freedom from the troubles mentioned above quickly follows.

Ask your druggist for NORMA (Norma is the name by which it is known everywhere)

Riddle Land.

Humpty Dumpty hurries —no other

Riddle Land, Riddle Land," sang the Fairy Queen. "We're going to Riddle Land to see Riddle Land and Its girls."

The Fairy Queen smiled. "I'm glad you're glad," she said. "Glad you are so anxious to go. And I'm sure you will be delighted for it's one of the most delightful places in Fairyland, I'm sure. Nine hundred and nine miles is the shortest way."

"Why, I should think that would be a very short way," said Nimble Toes.

"Long enough," said the Fairy Queen. "But the quickest way is not always the best way. A little bird told me that you would love to go to Riddle Land, and that you would like to see the Riddle Lady, and I promised her that you would."

"Oh, can you?" cried both Twins. "How do you get there?"

"By just waving," said the Queen. "Your magic green shoes know the way. Are they on tight?"

"Tight as paint," said Nimble Toes, waving around.

"You will know you are there when you come to Riddle Town," the Fairy Queen went on to say. "Everybody you meet will have question marks and they will be in Riddle Town spell WHAT. The people all have puckers between their eyes from guessing so hard and Humpty Dumpty is mayor."

At that minute there was a loud knocking at the palace door and Nimble Toes the Fairy Queen's servant bowed in a visitor. A most pompous looking little duck in red plush small clothes and a white satin vest. His hat full were of such a long bill as to show how important he was. Humpty Dumpty thinks it—no other—proof of real and fat. A chef with a stomach of no small proportion.

He leaned forward slightly and straightened a bow tie so that nobody could see that he had only an inch in the middle.

"Having that our visit is such an important little people here, I can't trust myself to escort them to Riddle Land, but I do give them in the keeping to Riddle Town. At your service, my dears."

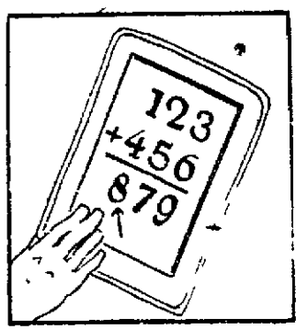

And so saying he handed the Twins a most ceremonious key that looked as though it might unlock a mountain. "If it suits your Highness I shall fill these children with candy now. The Riddle Lady was writing a new riddle when I left. Indeed it was almost finished. Dick Pedlap the town crier was out with his trumpet and the people were beginning to gather in the square. The person who guesses the riddle first gets a prize."

"Yes?" Ken right along all of you," said the Queen waving them away. "And see how smart you are and how many riddles you can guess, kiddies. Goodby."

Humpty Dumpty bowed again, stiffly and away they all went.

"Independent" Movie Men Renew Activity

Restriction of Output By Large Producers Not Cutting Down Volume of Production.

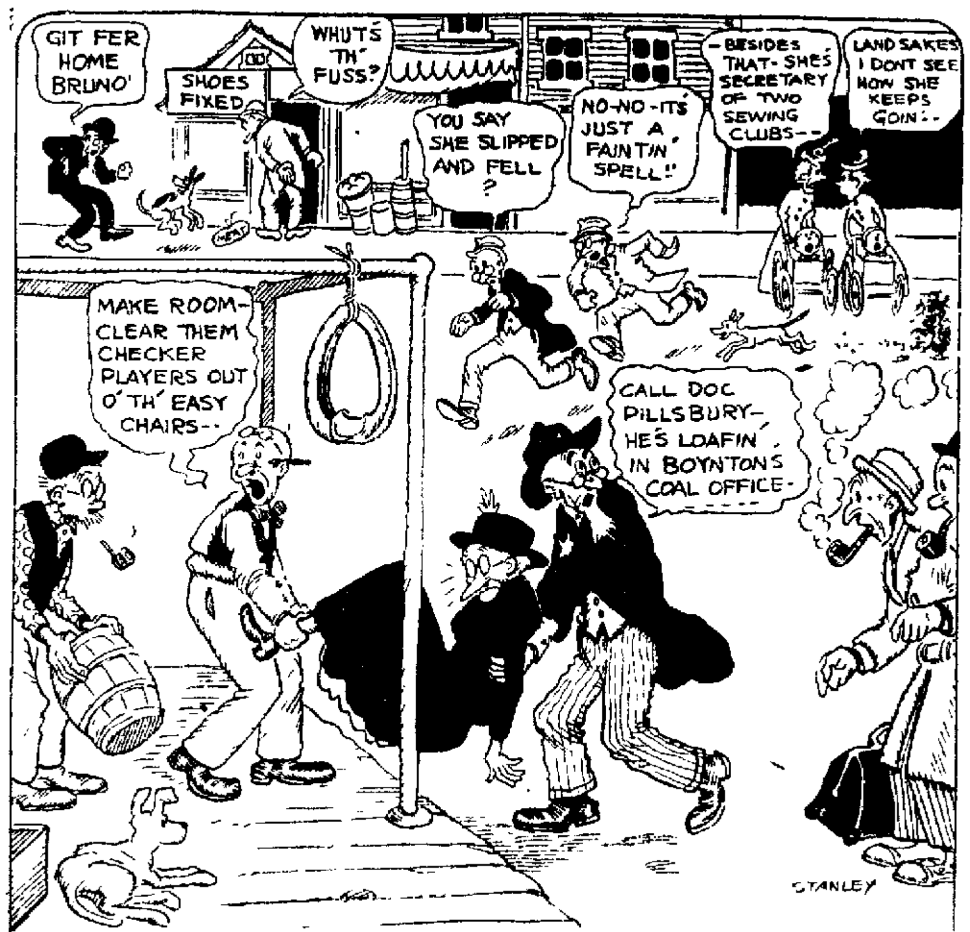

BY J. C. ROYLE
(Copyright, 1923)

New York, Nov. 22—The volume of moving picture production has not been diminished as a result of the policy recently announced by some large producers of temporarily restricting their picture play output. Their action, according to those in close touch with the industry, has stimulated the other "independent" producers to renewed activity.

The latter have seen in the situation an opportunity to fill the productions held up, as well as to secure the stars and directors of ability temporarily ... As a result they are deep in plans for

INDUSTRY SLUMPS IN NEW ENGLAND

Boston, Nov. 22—Evidence of the slowing down in industry in New England is furnished by the latest report of the state department of labor. This shows that six major industries which occupy nearly half the wage earners in the district show curtailment. The shoe industry makes the poorest showing with ... plants working at normal and ... less than normal. In cotton goods manufacture 72 plants are working on normal time and an equal number have curtailed operations while the ratio in woolen and worsted factories is 24 normal and 17 below normal. The foundries, machine shops and plants making electrical and textile machinery have more plants working full time than are on short schedules.

APPLE MARKET IN FURTHER LOSSES

Portland, Nov. 22—Further depression in the apple market here as a result of an avalanche of fruit ... from orchards of Oregon and Washington. In an effort by some wholesalers to force sales ... grade stock was forced down to ... a box and very good fruit was offered at that price. ... cents is the lowest price which has ever ruled in the Portland market. Even at that low figure it seems almost impossible to move more than a small proportion of fruit. Few apples are selling above $1 a box.

WHEAT PRICE CLOSE FIRM

Values Increase As Stock Market Prices Go Up.

Chicago, Nov. 22—Although wheat showed some declines during the initial transactions today the market soon recovered. Reports of heavy shipments from Russia and lower Liverpool quotations were bearish factors. Good buying support here developed however, and bulls contended that wheat had [illegible] value at current prices.

The opening which ranged from [illegible] off to [illegible] up, December $1.02⅞@⅝ and May $1.08@¼, was followed by a rally all around to slightly above yesterday's finish.

Owing more or less to strength in the stock market, a subsequent decided advance in wheat values took place with considerable buying ascribed to speculators who recently have been bearish. The close was firm [illegible] to [illegible] net higher, December $1.03⅞@1.04 and May $1.08⅞@1.09.

Predictions of [illegible] snow gave firmness to corn. After opening [illegible] changed to [illegible] lower, May 72⅝@[illegible], the market scored slight general gains.

Later the market sympathized with wheat strength. Corn closed firm [illegible] to [illegible] net higher, May 73⅛c.

Oats started at [illegible] decline to a [illegible] advance, May 44⅞c, [illegible] showed a little rally.

MISSISSIPPI MILK TO DIXON FACTORY

Dixon, Ill., Nov. 22—A shipment of 20,000 pounds of fresh milk from Starkville, Miss., was received at the Dixon condensing factory of the Borden company today, to be processed here, the consignment being the first of many which are expected if it is found the condensing of milk after so long a haul in refrigerator cars is successful. Finding their livelihood lessened by the fluctuation of the cotton market and the prevalence of the boll weevil, the farmers of Starkville, aided by the Chamber of Commerce of that place have undertaken dairy farming and have arranged with the local plant of the Borden company to handle the product.

CATTLE TRADE RUNS UNEVEN

Hogs Weak to Dime Lower; Fat Lambs Steady to Strong.

BY L. C. GRUNDELAND.

(Copyright, 1923.)

Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Nov. 22.—Cattle receipts were light today, while the supply of hogs also fell below the expected number. Heavy steers have been hit hard during the last few weeks, and they were again neglected today. About 1,000 westerns arrived during the day, while 200 native cattle were received by big killers from other trading points. Sellers had less than 7,000 hogs held over from yesterday, but values were off even with a light run. Packers had 1,000 hogs from other markets, while about 700 lambs were billed direct. Car report was 1,250 for the local yards.

Receipts were 11,000 cattle, 57,000 hogs, 13,000 sheep and 3,500 calves.

Cattle: Cattle trade was uneven. Best light steers sold fairly well at strong values, but demand for plainer stock showed weakness. The general trade was called fully steady for the best animals, however. One lot of choice heifers sold at $11.25, and some sellers called best butcher stock higher. Calves were steady with the weak point of the day before. Most vealers went at $7.50@8.00. Canners and bulls went over at unchanged values, good bolognas making $4.00@4.25.

Hogs: Hogs were generally weak to a dime lower. This notwithstanding the fact that the supply fell below the expected number. Choice heavy butchers sold at $7.30@7.35, with bulk of packing stock at $6.25@6.75. The trade was slow late in the day, and many lots were unsold at the close.

Sheep: Fat lambs were steady to strong, some going to shippers at $12.60, while big packers paid $12.40. Bulk of good lambs went at $11.75@12.00, however. Culls at $9.00@10.00 were steady. A small supply of aged muttons went over at unchanged price levels.

GENERAL LIST SHOWS POWER

New York, Nov. 22—While the general market showed considerable strength some pivotal shares, including U. S. Steel, Baldwin and Studebaker, failed to make much progress. Heavy short covering took place in the oil issues. Group strength also was shown by the sugars, chemicals and textiles. Representative rails such as New York Central and C. N. W. took a prominent part in the upswing.

Top prices in most of these and other issues were shaded by a wave of profit taking and bear selling which took place just before noon.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent. The close was firm.

COTTON MARKET IS HESITATING

BY GEORGE D. MOULSON.
Copyright 1923.

New York, Nov. 22—It was not altogether clear whether the symptoms of hesitation in the cotton market during today's early trading represented more than the reactionary tendencies to be expected after Wednesday's advance.

Traders realize that the ginnings to November 14 are not absolutely conclusive and today there were some who felt that they may have led to a great scaling down of crop estimates than would be altogether justified. This idea probably increased a tendency to take profits on long cotton around the 35c level, and realizing was also promoted by evidences that the south was a very willing seller at the high prices. There was no definite sign of offerings in excess of the market's powers of absorption and realizing sales around the local ring were well enough taken to hold declines within moderate limits.

An opening advance of five to 18 points was due to a continuation of Wednesday's buying movement which was encouraged by relative firm cables and reports that Liverpool had been a big buyer of spots in the south Wednesday. December deliveries sold up to $35.75 making a new high record and later months just about recovered the reactions of late Wednesday.

The market then eased under realizing and changes later were rather nervous and irregular, an outstanding feature being the tendency of business to taper off sharply on the declines and that fact that bulges met renewed spurts of profit taking.

DROP PREMIUM ON NEW CORN

Now Quoted At 58 Cents; Wheat Steady.

Local station buyers rubbed out the premium of two to four cents a bushel which has been prevailing on November delivery contracts for corn and quoting No. 4 grade at fifty-eight cents a bushel Thursday. Wheat and oats are unchanged and fairly steady.

Hogs are again stronger but local packers made no change in [illegible].

In poultry and dairy products the effect of the Thanksgiving market as far as eastern shipments are concerned was largely eliminated Thursday, the effect being noticeable principally in a decline of one cent a pound on ducks and two cents a pound on geese. Other products are unchanged.

SPECULATIVE RAILS HOLD THEIR GAINS

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES.
Copyright 1923.

New York, Nov. 22.—Again today [illegible] was the speculative securities on which the attention of the bond market was turned. The speculative rails held their gains.

Erie issues were among the most prominent, the general fours improving by a fraction their previous high for the year. At today's high these bonds were only about a point below the convertible 4's and the convertible B's issues. Seaboard Air Line bonds also maintained their position, the adjustment 5's selling around 45. In the New Haven group the nonconvertible debenture 4's of 1957 sold up half a point.

Among the industrials there was notable strength in Virginia Carolina Chemical 7½'s with warrants. The buying was doubtless based on the theory that prosperity in the South would improve the status of the bonds. Central Leather first 5's continued heavy around 92. Obligations of sugar companies were firm, notably the Cuba Cane Sugar 8's. Hershey Chocolate 6's sold at par, a new high for the year. Among the tractions Chicago Railways 5's broke below 74. The local tractions were heavy.

High grade bonds and U. S. Government loans were little changed. There was a brief run up in Atlantic Refining 5's. The new American T. & T. debenture 5½'s sold at the issue price with an odd lot now and then an eighth higher. In the foreign group steadiness was the rule.

Some confusion arose over the new way of quoting bonds sold with the privilege of delayed delivery. If the buyer consents a seller may take seven days to deliver. The idea is to accommodate out of town houses who often wish to sell securities when it is physically impossible to make a delivery by 2:15 p. m. on the next day as the rule requires when bonds are sold "in the regular way."

Farmers still come in for a few shuckers although the demand is not nearly so insistent as it was three weeks ago. About half of the crop is gathered say the farmers in some sections of the county where weather conditions have been favorable the crop will be well out of the way by Thanksgiving.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Fannie E. Day, a former resident of Decatur, died in Newberry, Fla., Nov. 12. This news was received by Mrs. W. F. Jacobs, who had a letter from Mrs. Day's daughter, Mrs. O. B. Anstow. Mrs. Day lived in Decatur for more than twenty years, but some time ago her health began to fail and she went to Florida with her daughter. She was unable to get around, having to spend her time in a wheel chair.

When in Decatur Mrs. Day was an active member of the Hospital Aid.

MRS. R. A. PATTON.

The funeral of Mrs. R. A. Patton will be held at the Presbyterian church in Moweaqua Friday afternoon at two o'clock.

Dinner in G. A. R. Hall.

Dinner will be served in the G. A. R. hall at noon Friday. There also will be quilting for the day.

STALEY PLANT CLOSES DOWN

Will Run Only Part of Next Week.

The big mills of the A. E. Staley Manufacturing Co. closed down Thursday for the remainder of this week. It is expected that the plant will run part time Thanksgiving week but will be shut down again for the holiday.

The extremely high price of cotton has resulted in the shutting down of textile mills in all parts of the country and as these mills are consumers of starch the result is a slackening of the demand for one of the principal products of the local company.

RECEPTION FOR NEW CITIZENS

Public Invited to D. H. S. Tonight.

An urgent invitation is extended to the residents of Decatur to attend the reception Friday evening at 7:30 in the High school auditorium in honor of the new citizens of Decatur. An interesting program has been arranged, with Judge Baldwin as one of the speakers, who will also present certificates to the new citizens.

A short musical program will be held during the evening. Four numbers of the pageant presented at the Roach school last week will be given, the numbers being, Japan, Holland, Scotch and Irish.

Decatur

Get Ready, Gentlemen.

November, 1923, has nearly run its course. The last month of the year will soon be here.

Forty days from now 1924 will arrive.

Will Decatur's city council have its plan for the city work for the coming year put into shape by that time?

Decision on the case which involved the question as to whether or not the board of local improvements is necessary is yet to be handed down by the state supreme court.

Shall we hang up all of the many improvements which are recognized as being necessary and advisable until the actual receipt of that decision?

Other cities are going ahead with their plans for work in 1924.

Decatur should do the same.

Every "ull councils start out with a determination to make plans for the street work which is to be done with the declared intention of having it so laid out that the seasonable weather for such construction can be utilized.

Every year the council loses its nerve or its determination or permits itself to be sidetracked and that street work which should be started by May 1 drags along to mid-summer.

Illinois cities are not going out of business because of that law.

Whatever the decision of the court these cities are going ahead; streets will be paved, sewers built, water mains laid.

Much is to be done.

Some way will be found. And Decatur officials should be making their plans.

The details should be threshed out within the next four to six weeks.

The job should be tackled in earnest and with determination.

Court delay should be anticipated by getting this early start.

Much street work has been done in the last two years. Much yet remains to be done.

The present council has merely finished, in most cases, what the preceding council had initiated.

It should get into action on its own account.

That North Water street entrance to the city should be improved. Oakland avenue should be widened and re-surfaced or re-paved.

The downtown bad wood block pavements should be taken in hand so that the business section shall no longer be the wonder and the joke of those who bounce through it.

East-end pavements should be laid—East Wood street, East Eldorado street, Seventh street and other streets in that section of the city which has been neglected all too long.

Decatur's city council has some live jobs ahead.

It should be getting those jobs on their way.

WHAT DID YOU SEE?

Mrs. P. E. saw a card hanging on a safe door in a north-east end meat market which read, "Not locked. Unlatch and help yourself."

C. D. saw two men exchange hats while they were walking across the street on North Water street.

F. C. saw a girl get out of a car at the Public Library with a load of books ask a a young man who was passing to help her carry them in.

What Did YOU See?

1500 NAMES ON NEW CHEST LISTS

Fund At $73,000; Workers Still Busy.

WOMEN CLEANING UP

Have Turned in $9500 Pin Money.

The total amount raised for the Community Chest fund in the campaign still in progress, is $73,000. To some it may seem as though the total shows signs of sticking at this point, but the fact as those in charge know them, do not indicate this. It is merely a time when workers are getting their breath ready to start all over again if necessary.

HELP THE HELPLESS

A few names were assigned at the meeting of the team captains Wednesday noon, and these names the teams are now at work on, the reports not yet in. No letting up is being done in the drive and the workers are determined to push the thermometer to the top while they are at work.

RECHECK NAMES.

The men in charge of the checking and re-checking of the fully 6000 names in the drive, names of persons who have contributed and another list of names of persons who have not contributed, will have when they have finished, between 1,500 and 2,000 names of persons whom it is thought can raise the subscriptions already made or who have not subscribed. This committee is at work now and when the work is completed the names will be apportioned among the teams.

Men were at work Thursday morning on the cleaning up, but none of them had reported to headquarters at noon. Some of these reports will be made later in the day and others will hang over until Friday.

WOMEN AT WORK.

Mrs. Tom Pitner stated that her women were still at work and she would meet those who have reports to make, between the hours of 2 and 4, Thursday afternoon, in the Motor club. Those workers, however, who have turned in their reports are not required to attend this meeting. These women have little cleaning up to do once the complete report is made. When a woman in charge of a block went around that block, and saw everyone in it, then if for any reason it was thought necessary to make a second visit to a contributor one of the men was sent on the errand.

The exact amount of the women's campaign is not known at this time and perhaps will not be for several days as yet, but Mrs. Pitner believes that it will run close to $9,500, although she does not think it will reach the $10,000 mark. This was said Thursday morning to be the best campaign of its kind ever conducted by the women.

$9,500 PIN MONEY.

"The money the women collect, is just pin money compared with that which the men have an opportunity to collect," said Mrs. Pitner. This $9,500 worth of "pin money," will, however, make an appreciable difference in the whole. The greater part of this money has been reported heretofore, and not more than $500 remains to be turned in. It is thought that the women will have turned in $500 by night but some of this amount has been reported before Mrs. Pitner checks out as the women have been bringing in envelops all week, some of them to headquarters and some of them to Mrs. Pitner.

Optimism still reigns about headquarters and it is confidently believed that the campaign will go over the top.

By an over sight the names of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dunker, 403 North Main street was omitted from the published list. They contributed $25 to the Community Chest fund.

SIX PHEASANTS COME FROM STATE

Will Post Thursday received a shipment of six pheasants from William Stratton, state game warden. There are two males and four females. They were given to Frank Torrence for the park. Plan Early Election To Take in Territory

Petitions To Be Circulated In Many Adjoining Sections To City.

Plans for holding an election early in 1924 for bringing in the territory adjoining the city will be made by Lee Boland, corporation counsel, following a resolution offered by Commissioner Harry Ruthrauff at the meeting of the city council Thursday morning.

The resolution was voted and then Mr. Ruthrauff suggested that petitions be gotten out for signatures in all of the many tracts which are known to be ready to come into the city. Several were voted upon in the last city election but because of the interest in the personal tickets for commissioners the annexation propositions were overlooked to such an extent that none of them received a majority of the votes cast.

MANY AGREEMENTS.

A large number of agreements to come into the city signed by those who have asked for and received special water privileges are on file with the city. These will be checked up and other outlying territory which is evidently ready to come in will also be covered.

Mr. Ruthrauff suggested that men be put in the field with these petitions, make a business of circulating them, and have all the tracts possible ready for the special election when it is called.

No date for the election was suggested but it is certain to be held early in 1924.

SULLIVAN CASE GIVEN TO JURY

Ballinger Charged with Confidence Game.

Sullivan, Nov. 22—The case of the people against Donald Ballinger, who has been on trial in the circuit court this week on a charge of obtaining several thousand dollars under false pretense from Jovah Lynn went to the jury about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The taking of testimony was finished about 9:30 Thursday forenoon, and the arguments of attorneys were made. Following the charge by the court, the jury took the case.

GOT MUCH MONEY.

The state used about twelve or fifteen witnesses to establish the case against Ballinger, and about the same number was used by the defense. From the state's evidence it appeared that over a period of several years Ballinger had obtained sums of money, ranging from $1 to $100 from Miss Lynn, part of it being her money and part belonging to her foster mother, Mrs. Isabel Ferguson. It was obtained, Miss Lynn stated on the stand, after Ballinger had asked her to marry him and she had consented and he then pretended to be investing the money for her. Ballinger never married the girl, and the state claims never invested the money for her.

READY TO MARRY.

Ballinger in his defense contended that at all times he has been ready and willing to marry Miss Lynn, and as to the money it did not belong to Miss Lynn, but was Mrs. Ferguson's.
